The colors shown in our color charts may vary from the actual colors of our hot stamping foils. In addition color variations may also be caused by different factors such as stamping pressure, temperature, color of substrate and other processing conditions. Therefore the only relevant color standard is the reference color of the standard batch of the quality control department of KURZ. We recommend to our customers to make their own tests under their own processing and stamping conditions to exclude eventual color variations. Sample rolls are available on request.
